

STT rule: a load's result stops tainting younger instructions once every older branch has resolved. On a mispredict that is also the moment the squash starts, and the squash needs commitToIEWDelay cycles to reach the load queue.